

El profesor Santiago González y Fernández-Corugedo es catedrático de Filología de la Universidad de Oviedo desde 1996. Previamente fue catedrático de Lengua y Lingüística Inglesas en la Universidad de La Coruña (1994-1996), donde fue decano de su Facultad de Filología. En la Universidad de Oviedo fue Director de Área del Campus de Humanidades, vicedecano y secretario de la Facultad de Filología y asesor del Vicerrectorado de Relaciones Internacionales.

Disfrutó de una beca postdoctoral en la Universidad de Oxford (1990), y de dos visiting scholarships y una visiting fellowship en esa misma universidad (1991, 1992 y 1998) en los Oxford University Humanities Computing Services. Fue visiting fellow del Centre for Medieval Studies de la Universidad de Toronto (2000), visiting scholar en el Center for Medieval and Early Modern Studies de la Universidad de Stanford (2017 y 2018) and visiting professor en Whitman College (Washington, 2002). Ha sido profesor visitante en 26 universidades europeas, especialmente en programas de doctorado en estudios de traducción, estudios textuales y culturales, estudios interculturales, y fundamentalmente en programas de lengua y lingüística inglesa.

Fue director de las revistas científicas Atlantis, Sederi y Selim, y presidió la Sociedad Española de Lengua y Literatura Inglesa Medieval (SELIM, 1998-2004). Es miembro de las juntas directivas y comités de veintiseis publicaciones científicas y sociedades académicas.

Principales publicaciones: Historia del inglés, filología electrónica, poetas románticos ingleses, poetas Tudor, estudios medievales. Desde 2004 participa en sucesivos proyectos de investigación sobre manuscritos de Late Medieval and Early Modern English Fachprosa relacionados con las colecciones de la Hunterian Library, la Huntington Library, la Wellcome Library, y la University of Cambridge.

Ha sido miembro de las comisiones de evaluación y acreditación de la ANEP, ANECA, CNEAI, NZQA, AVAP (olim CVAEC), ACSUG, DEVA-AAC, ACSUCYL, AGAUR, MINECO, y de la Fulbright Foundation de España.

En el servicio exterior, fue agregado de educación en el consulado general de España en Miami, (2004-2005), y consejero de educación de las embajadas de España en Australia, Nueva Zelanda y Filipinas, 2009-2014). Está en posesión de la encomienda de la orden del Mérito Civil (2011).

Se le localiza fácilmente por correo electrónico y por videoconferencia.

Professor Santiago González y Fernández-Corugedo received a Bachelor of Arts (Honours) followed by a Master of Arts in Linguistics (University of Oviedo, special award) and a doctorate in Comparative Linguistics. Since 1996 he holds a professorship of English Philology at the University of Oviedo.

He was professor of English Language & Linguistics at the University of Corunna (1994-1996) and first Dean of its Arts Faculty. At the University of Oviedo, he previously served as Humanities Campus Director, Assistant Dean, and Registrar of the Arts Faculty, together with being International Relations adviser to the corresponding Deputy Vicechancellor while being a lecturer (assistant professor) and a senior lecturer (associate professor).

He held a postdoctoral research fellowship at the University of Oxford, two visiting scholarships, and a visiting fellowship from the Oxford University Humanities Computing Services. He was Visiting Fellow at the University of Toronto's Centre for Medieval Studies, Visiting Scholar at Stanford University's Center for Medieval and Early Modern Studies and Visiting Professor at Whitman College, Washington.

He usually teaches undergraduate courses in English Language, English Historical Linguistics, Comparative Linguistics and Medieval Studies and postgraduate courses on Research Methodology, Historical and Comparative Linguistics and IT and Philology. He has been visiting professor at twenty-six different European Universities, including PhD programmes in English Language and Linguistics, Translation Studies, Textual and Cultural Studies and Intercultural Studies. He also gave invited lectures at different universities and academic meetings in the US, Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

He was editor of the scholarly journals Atlantis, Sederi and Selim. He also chaired the Sociedad Española de Lengua y Literatura Inglesa Medieval (SELIM) and is a member of boards and committees of twenty-six scientific journals and learned societies.

Main publications in: History of English; Electronic Philology; English Romantic Poets; Tudor Poets; Medieval Studies. Since 2004 he has been involved in a series of research projects on Late Medieval and Early Modern English Fachprosa manuscripts kept in the Hunterian Library, the Huntington Library, the Wellcome Library, and the University of Cambridge.

He has been a committee and expert member of ANEP (now AEI), ANECA, NZQA, CVAEC (now AVEP), ACSUG, DEVA-AACUA, ACSUCYL, AGAUR, MINECO/MICINN and the Spanish Fulbright Foundation.

As a diplomat in the Foreign Service his postings and secondments have been as consul of education (Consulate General of Spain in Miami) and counsellor for education (Spanish Embassies in Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines). Commander of the Order of Civil Merit (2011).

He is easily reached through electronic mail or via videoconference.